Your name and your e-mail address came up in a random draw conducted by our law firm, John Williams Law Chambers in Portharcourt, Nigeria. My name is John Williams Esq. personal attorney to our late client Mr. Rolf Klaus who was the chairman of Ro-klaus Marine Services in Berlin, Germany.

Mr. Rolf Klaus a well-known Philanthropist, before he died, made a Will in our law firm stating that $6.3M (Six million, Three Hundred Thousand U.S. dollars only) should be donated to any charity home of our choice overseas. We have made a random draw and your name and E-mail address was picked to assist us disburse these funds accordingly. This implies that you will stand as the beneficiary to this Will so that the funds could be processed and transferred to your account.

I am particularly interested in securing this money from the Bank; because they have issued a notice instructing us to produce the beneficiary of this will as soon as possible else the money will be credited to the Government treasury.

It is my utmost desire to execute the Will of our late client. You are required to contact me immediately to start the process of transferring this money to any of your designated official Account. I urge you to contact me immediately for further details bearing in mind that the Bank has given us a date limit. Please act fast.

Congratulations and I hope we could work together as a team to execute this transaction successfully. When transferred, the funds would be disbursed to a charity home, you and me. Details of this will be discussed later before we get started.

Very truly yours,

Mr. John Williams Esq.

For: John Williams Law Chambers.
